Travelling to Helsingør

The medieval city of Helsingør (Elsinore) is located on the seaward approach to the southern Øresund, less than 40 km north of Copenhagen. The city is the location of Kronborg Castle which was the setting of Shakespeare's Hamlet.

Helsingør can be reached by train, car or by ferry from Helsingborg, Sweden. The closest international airport is Copenhagen Airport where frequent train connections to Helsingør are available (approximately 1 hour).

CALL FOR PAPERS

14th Nordic Symposium on Catalysis

August 29-31, 2010
Marienlyst, Helsingør,
Denmark

Organized by

Technical University of Denmark, Aarhus University, Haldor Topsøe A/S and The Society of Danish Chemical Engineers

General information

The organizers welcome all university and industry researchers working in the broad field of catalysis to attend the 14th Nordic Symposium on Catalysis, August 29-31, 2010 in Helsingør, Denmark.

The conference will feature two parallel oral sessions and poster sessions covering topics ranging from industrial catalysis and biocatalysis to fundamental studies of catalysts and mechanisms. The conference language will be English.

Confirmed invited speakers

Plenary lectures:

Jim Dumesic

University of Wisconsin-Madison, USA

Wolfgang Kroutil

Karl-Franzens University, Graz, Austria

Bob Madix

Harvard University, USA

Nordic keynote lectures:

Thomas Bligaard (DTU Physics, Denmark)

Satu Ojala (University of Oulu, Finland)

Louise Olsson (Chalmers Univ., Sweden)

Magnus Rønning (NTNU, Norway)

Berzelius Prize and Lecture

Prize awarded by the Swedish Catalysis Society (sponsored by Perstorp Formox AB)

Conference site

The venue of the symposium is Hotel Marienlyst, Helsingør, Denmark. The hotel is located right next to the beach and a short stroll from the forest, the Marina, Kronborg Castle and the medieval centre of the city.

Abstract submission

All participants are encouraged to submit abstracts of their work to be considered for presentation (oral or poster) at the symposium.

Submission of contributions is done online via the conference web site: www.nsc2010.dk using one of the available preformatted one-page abstract templates. Information about the presenting author and preferred form of presentation (oral or poster) must be included on the abstract submission form.

Dates to note:

March 15th, 2010

Deadline for abstract submission

May 1st, 2010

Program with oral presentations available

Conference paper

Symposium participants are invited to contribute an article of their presented contribution to the peer-reviewed conference proceedings, which will be published as a special issue of the journal Topics in Catalysis. The proceedings will be edited by members of the organizing committee.

Deadline for submission of papers to be considered for the proceedings is the first day of the symposium, but please inform about your submission plans at your earliest convenience at: proceedings@nsc2010.dk.
